Nallenart.org Benefits:

- + Free registration and free access to supplementary teaching aids.
- + Low cost, reproducible resources for your classroom or homeschool.
- + Instant access to your curriculum and teaching aids.
- + An environmentally responsible solution.
- + You choose the content for your students.
- + A community where ideas can be shared and questions can be answered.

Nallenart.org presents a new paradigm in curriculum delivery for schools and homeschools. Based on a subscription model, Nallenart.org provides your school or homeschool with electronic access to a variety of resources to facilitate teaching French as a second language to students from the kindergarten level to high school.

The most obvious benefit of Nallenart.org as a resource delivery system is its low cost to your school or family. Many of our teaching aids are free upon registration. Included in the annual subscription fee is the right to access your full course curriculum which you are then licenced to use for the duration of your subscription. You may reproduce work pages, flashcards and tests, download slideshows and podcasts, and equip your students at a much lower cost than purchasing consumable workbooks every year. There are also no shipping and handling fees.

In addition to low cost, Nallenart.org offers you the convenience of instant access to your curriculum and teaching aids. Simply login and begin to prepare for your lessons.

The electronic delivery system at Nallenart.org is an environmentally responsible solution to providing workpages for your students. Simply reproduce the pages that you require for each student. Fewer pages printed, along with the elimination of parcel delivery, lowers the environmental impact of your school and models good stewardship of resources.

Choosing the pages you print also allows you to choose the content that is made available to your students. Some Nallenart products contain explicitly Christian material. If this is unsuitable for your school, you are free to choose not to use those lessons.

In addition to providing curriculum, Nallenart.org is intended to foster a community where ideas can be shared and questions can be answered. It is my hope that our forums and FAQ pages will be a valuable resource for teachers at all levels of experience. Register for free and investigate the possibilities at Nallenart.org.
